We have a deranged med a that covers the mass murders that fit their narrative while ignoring those that don t (do a search for "Tulsa" and "Waukesha" to see what I mean). And one of our deepest prob.ems is politicians who use slogans that poll well instead of being honest.

If you want to keep guns out of the hands of the mentally ill--and you should--there is a solution out there that 1) doesn t harm lawful citizens, 2) would actually address the severe mental health crisis in this country; and 3) might actual y work. Joe Biden should start there

My statement on today's historic Supreme Court ruling:

JD VANCE
U.S. SENATE
CONSERVATIVE. OUTSIDER

JD Vance Issues Statement on SCOTUS Overturning Roe

CINCINNATI -- JD Vance, candidate for U.S. Senate in Ohio, today issued the following statement on the U.S. Supreme Court overturning Roe v. Wade.

"I am 37 years old, and for my entire life abortion on demand—decreed by an unelected panel of judges—has been forced on the nation. Today is a great day. It vindicates a half century of work, and gives us an opportunity to live up our founding creed—that all of us are truly created equal.

"We now enter a new phase of the pro-life movement. We will continue the fight to ensure that every young mother has the resources they need to bring new life into the world. We will build an economy where it's possible to sustain and support our children. We will expand adoption and promote pregnancy centers, so that every child has the loving home they deserve. Some of our efforts will be federal, and others local, but all will be focused on the simple principle that life is worth protecting—from the moment it begins until its natural end.

"In the Hebrew Bible, God tells Jeremiah: "Before I formed you in the womb I knew you, before you were born I set you apart; I appointed you as a prophet to the nations." This wisdom echoes through the ages in our hearts and in our minds; now it falls to us to ensure it is reflected in the laws of our nation."

My statement on today's historic Supreme Court ruling:

U.S. SENATE
CONSERVATIVE. OUTSIDER

JD Vance Issues Statement on SCOTUS Overturning Roe

CINCINNATI -- JD Vance, candidate for U.S. Senate in Ohio, today issued the following statement on the U.S. Supreme Court overturning Roe v. Wade.

"I am 37 years old, and for my entire life abortion on demand—decreed by an unelected panel of judges—has been forced on the nation. Today is a great day. It vindicates a half century of work, and gives us an opportunity to live up our founding creed—that all of us are truly created equal.

"We now enter a new phase of the pro-life movement. We will continue the fight to ensure that every young mother has the resources they need to bring new life into the world. We will build an economy where it's possible to sustain and support our children. We will expand adoption and promote pregnancy centers, so that every child has the loving home they deserve. Some of our efforts will be federal, and others local, but all will be focused on the simple principle that life is worth protecting—from the moment it begins until its natural end.

"In the Hebrew Bible, God tells Jeremiah: "Before I formed you in the womb I knew you, before you were born I set you apart; I appointed you as a prophet to the nations." This wisdom echoes through the ages in our hearts and in our minds; now it falls to us to ensure it is reflected in the laws of our nation."

By using a B ble verse to justify it you admit that this decision used the Bible and not the Constitution to make this decision. Not only that, they misused the Bible. This is UNCONSTITUTIONAL and you know it!

JD Vance Issues Statement on SCOTUS Overturning Roe

CINCINNATI -- JD Vance, candidate for U.S. Senate in Ohio, today issued the following statement on the U.S. Supreme Court overturning Roe v. Wade.

"I am 37 years old, and for my entire life abortion on demand—decreed by an unelected panel of judges—has been forced on the nation. Today is a great day. It vindicates a half century of work, and gives us an opportunity to live up our founding creed—that all of us are truly created equal.

"We now enter a new phase of the pro-life movement. We will continue the fight to ensure that every young mother has the resources they need to bring new life into the world. We will build an economy where it's possible to sustain and support our children. We will expand adoption and promote pregnancy centers, so that every child has the loving home they deserve. Some of our efforts will be federal, and others local, but all will be focused on the simple principle that life is worth protecting—from the moment it begins until its natural end.

"In the Hebrew Bible, God tells Jeremiah: "Before I formed you in the womb I knew you, before you were born I set you apart; I appointed you as a prophet to the nations." This wisdom echoes through the ages in our hearts and in our minds; now it falls to us to ensure it is reflected in the laws of our nation."

By using a Bible verse to justify it you admit that this decision used the Bible and not the Constitution to make this decision. Not only that, they misused the Bible. This is UNCONSTITUTIONAL and you know it!

JD Vance Issues Statement on SCOTUS Overturning Roe

CINCINNATI -- JD Vance, candidate for U.S. Senate in Ohio, today issued the following statement on the U.S. Supreme Court overturning Roe v. Wade.

"I am 37 years old, and for my entire life abortion on demand—decreed by an unelected panel of judges—has been forced on the nation. Today is a great day. It vindicates a half century of work, and gives us an opportunity to live up our founding creed—that all of us are truly created equal.

"We now enter a new phase of the pro-life movement. We will continue the fight to ensure that every young mother has the resources they need to bring new life into the world. We will build an economy where it's possible to sustain and support our children. We will expand adoption and promote pregnancy centers, so that every child has the loving home they deserve. Some of our efforts will be federal, and others local, but all will be focused on the simple principle that life is worth protecting—from the moment it begins until its natural end.

"In the Hebrew Bible, God tells Jeremiah: "Before I formed you in the womb I knew you, before you were born I set you apart; I appointed you as a prophet to the nations." This wisdom echoes through the ages in our hearts and in our minds; now it falls to us to ensure it is reflected in the laws of our nation."

By using a B ble verse to justify it you admit that this decision used the Bible and not the Constitution to make this decision. Not only that, they misused the Bible. This is UNCONSTITUTIONAL and you know it!

JD Vance Issues Statement on SCOTUS Overturning Roe

CINCINNATI -- JD Vance, candidate for U.S. Senate in Ohio, today issued the following statement on the U.S. Supreme Court overturning Roe v. Wade.

"I am 37 years old, and for my entire life abortion on demand—decreed by an unelected panel of judges—has been forced on the nation. Today is a great day. It vindicates a half century of work, and gives us an opportunity to live up our founding creed—that all of us are truly created equal.

"We now enter a new phase of the pro-life movement. We will continue the fight to ensure that every young mother has the resources they need to bring new life into the world. We will build an economy where it's possible to sustain and support our children. We will expand adoption and promote pregnancy centers, so that every child has the loving home they deserve. Some of our efforts will be federal, and others local, but all will be focused on the simple principle that life is worth protecting—from the moment it begins until its natural end.

"In the Hebrew Bible, God tells Jeremiah: "Before I formed you in the womb I knew you, before you were born I set you apart; I appointed you as a prophet to the nations." This wisdom echoes through the ages in our hearts and in our minds; now it falls to us to ensure it is reflected in the laws of our nation."

By using a Bible verse to justify it you admit that this decision used the Bible and not the Constitution to make this decision. Not only that, they misused the Bible. This is UNCONSTITUTIONAL and you know it!

My statement on today's historic Supreme Court ruling:

JD VANCE
U.S. SENATE
CONSERVATIVE. OUTSIDER.

JD Vance Issues Statement on SCOTUS Overturning Roe

CINCINNATI -- JD Vance, candidate for U.S. Senate in Ohio, today issued the following statement on the U.S. Supreme Court overturning Roe v. Wade.

"I am 37 years old, and for my entire life abortion on demand—decreed by an unelected panel of judges—has been forced on the nation. Today is a great day. It vindicates a half century of work, and gives us an opportunity to live up our founding creed—that all of us are truly created equal.

"We now enter a new phase of the pro-life movement. We will continue the fight to ensure that every young mother has the resources they need to bring new life into the world. We will build an economy where it's possible to sustain and support our children. We will expand adoption and promote pregnancy centers, so that every child has the loving home they deserve. Some of our efforts will be federal, and others local, but all will be focused on the simple principle that life is worth protecting—from the moment it begins until its natural end.

"In the Hebrew Bible, God tells Jeremiah: "Before I formed you in the womb I knew you, before you were born I set you apart; I appointed you as a prophet to the nations." This wisdom echoes through the ages in our hearts and in our minds; now it falls to us to ensure it is reflected in the laws of our nation."

So all of us agree that we don't want insane people to go and buy a gun and kill people. The question is how to actually accomplish that goal. Importantly, it's already a violation of federal law to sell a gun to a crazy person. So what do red flag laws do?
72 171 1,251

J.D. Vance @JDVance1 6h
They allow the government to eliminate peoples' rights without any due process. Say your neighbor calls the police and says you're a bad guy who's about to commit a crime? Or maybe your ex complains about you after an argument? Now the cops can show up and remove your firearms
94 256 1,450

J.D. Vance @JDVance1 6h
Imagine this approach with any other set of rights. Imagine a neighbor complaining about someone, and then having that person thrown in jail. Or say a guy's ex wife (think Amber Herd) claims he was abusive, and so we take away his right to free speech
40 139 1,066

J.D. Vance @JDVance1 6h
Maybe the neighbor has a point. Maybe the ex-wife is right. But we have a simple principle in this country: innocent until proven guilty. If you want to strip someone's rights, you've got to go through a court of law--that's true even with those rights progressives don't like 26 114 1,128

J.D. Vance @JDVance1 6h
There's another angle to this: we're ignoring that it's already against the law to provide or sell a weapon to a crazy person. Why do so many people, from the shooters in Uvalde and Parkland to many others, get guns when there were many signs that they were a problem?
30 123 995

J.D. Vance @JDVance1 6h
The answer (in part) goes to how we treat mental health and institutionalization. Walk around any big city in America these days and you have a very good chance of meeting an obviously insane person who is a threat to themselves and others. As a society, we ignore them
29 150 1,101

J.D. Vance @JDVance1 6h
But whether they're an isolated teen in Texas or a screaming insane person outside of the New York subway, we need to ignore less and institutionalize more. Is that a strong response? Sure is, which is why we have due process before we commit anyone to a mental institution
34 136 1,054

J.D. Vance @JDVance1 6h
Yet we need to be willing to institutionalize people more, both to clean up our streets and also to help some obviously very sick people. That would be far more effective than any "red flag" law. And we'd respect important rights in the process
187 354 1,693

J.D. Vance @JDVance1 6h
There's so much more to do. American schools are clearly seen as soft targets by evil people. Is this sad? Yes. Do I wish it weren't so? Of course. But it's reality. So, we need to bolster school security and make it harder to get into schools in the first place
54 145 1,103

J.D. Vance @JDVance1 6h
I've not even addressed the deeper problems here. We have some very troubled young men who carry out these mass shootings. We have horrible inner-city gun violence that kills far more people than any of the one-off shootings that gather headlines
33 127 1,027

J.D. Vance
@JDVance1

We have a deranged media that covers the mass murders that fit their narrative while ignoring those that don't (do a search for "Tulsa" and "Waukesha" to see what I mean). And one of our deepest problems is politicians who use slogans that poll well instead of being honest.

We have a deranged media that covers the mass murders that fit their narrative while ignoring those that don't (do a search for "Tulsa" and "Waukesha" to see what I mean). And one of our deepest problems is politicians who use slogans that poll well instead of being honest.

So all of us agree that we don't want insane people to go and buy a gun and kill people. The question is how to actually accomplish that goal importantly, it's already a violation of federal law to sell a gun to a crazy person. So what do red flag laws do?

They allow the government to eliminate peoples' rights without any due process. Say your neighbor calls the police and says you're a bad guy who's about to commit a crime? Or maybe your ex complains about you after an argument? Now the cops can show up and remove your firearms

Imagine this approach with any other set of rights. Imagine a neighbor complaining about someone, and then having that person thrown in jail. Or say a guy's ex wife (think Amber Herd) claims he was abusive, and so we take away his right to free speech
40 139 1.066

J.D. Vance @JDVance1 · 3. Juni
Maybe the neighbor has a point. Maybe the ex-wife is right. But we have a simple principle in this country: innocent until proven guilty. If you want to strip someone's rights, you've got to go through a court of law--that's true even with those rights progressives don't like

There's another angle to this: we're ignoring that it's already against the law to provide or sell a weapon to a crazy person. Why do so many people, from the shooters in Uvalde and Parkland to many others, get guns when there were many signs that they were a problem?

The answer (in part) goes to how we treat mental health and institutionalization. Walk around any big city in America these days and you have a very good chance of meeting an obviously insane person who is a threat to themselves and others. As a society, we ignore them

None of these would improve the gun violence problem in this country. All of them satisfy the urge to "do something" without actually doing anything useful, at great cost to the rights of people who follow the law. Let's take just one example, "red flag" laws.

> President Biden ✓ @POTUS 2 июн
> United States government official
> We need to
>
> Ban assault weapons — and if we can't, then we should raise the age to purchase them from 18 to 21.
>
> Ban high-capacity magazines.
>
> Strengthen background checks.
>
> Enact safe storage laws and red flag laws.
>
> Repeal gun manufacturers' immunity from liability.

There's another angle to this. We're ignoring that it's already against the law to provide or sell a weapon to a crazy person. Why do so many people, from the shooters in Uvalde and Parkland to many others, get guns when there were many signs that they were a problem?

The answer (in part) goes to how we treat mental health and institutionalization. Walk around any big city in America these days and you have a very good chance of meeting an obviously insane person who is a threat to themselves and others. As a society, we ignore them.

But whether they're an isolated teen in Texas or a screaming insane person outside of the New York subway, we need to ignore less and institutionalize more. Is that a strong response? Sure is, which is why we have due process before we commit anyone to a mental institution.

J.D. Vance ✓ @JDVance1 3 июн
Yet we need to be willing to institutionalize people more, both to clean up our streets and also to help some obviously very sick people. That would be far more effective than any "red flag" law. And we'd respect important rights in the process.

There's so much more to do. American schools are clearly seen as soft targets by evil people. Is this sad? Yes. Do I wish it weren't so? Of course. But it's reality. So, we need to bolster school security and make it harder to get into schools in the first place.

I've not even addressed the deeper problems here. We have some very troubled young men who carry out these mass shootings. We have horrible inner-city gun violence that kills far more people than any of the one-off shootings that gather headlines.

J.D. Vance ✓ @JDVance1 3 июн
We have a deranged media that covers the mass murders that fit their narrative while ignoring those that don't (do a search for "Tulsa" and "Waukesha" to see what I mean). And one of our deepest problems is politicians who use slogans that poll well instead of being honest.

If you want to keep guns out of the hands of the mentally ill--and you should--there is a solution out there that 1) doesn't harm lawful citizens, 2) would actually address the severe mental health crisis in this country, and 3) might actually work. Joe Biden should start there.

None of these would improve the gun violence problem in this country. All of them satisfy the urge to "do something" without actually doing anything useful, at great cost to the rights of people who follow the law. Let's take just one example, "red flag" laws.

So all of us agree that we don't want insane people to go and buy a gun and kill people. The question is how to actually accomplish that goal. Importantly, it's already a violation of federal law to sell a gun to a crazy person. So what do red flag laws do?

They allow the government to eliminate peoples' rights without any due process. Say your neighbor calls the police and says you're a bad guy who's about to commit a crime? Or maybe your ex complains about you after an argument? Now the cops can show up and remove your firearms

Imagine this approach with any other set of rights. Imagine a neighbor complaining about someone, and then having that person thrown in jail. Or say a guy's ex-wife (think Amber Heard) claims he was abusive, and so we take away his right to free speech.

Maybe the neighbor has a point. Maybe the ex-wife is right. But we have a simple principle in this country: innocent until proven guilty. If you want to strip someone's rights, you've got to go through a court of law--that's true even with those rights progressives don't like

If you want to keep guns out of the hands of the mentally ill--and you should--there is a solution out there that 1) doesn't harm lawful citizens, 2) would actually address the severe mental health crisis in this country, and 3) might actually work. Joe Biden should start there

None of these would improve the gun violence problem in this country. All of them satisfy the urge to "do something" without actually doing anything useful, at great cost to the rights of people who follow the law. Let's take just one example, "red flag" laws.

So all of us agree that we don't want insane people to go and buy a gun and kill people. The question is how to actually accomplish that goal. Importantly, it's already a violation of federal law to sell a gun to a crazy person. So what do red flag laws do?

They allow the government to eliminate peoples' rights without any due process. Say your neighbor calls the police and says you're a bad guy who's about to commit a crime? Or maybe your ex complains about you after an argument? Now the cops can show up and remove your firearms.

Imagine this approach with any other set of rights. Imagine a neighbor complaining about someone, and then having that person thrown in jail. Or say a guy's ex-wife (think Amber Heard) claims he was abusive, and so we take away his right to free speech.

J.D. Vance @JDVance1 3 черв
Maybe the neighbor has a point. Maybe the ex-wife is right. But we have a simple principle in this country: innocent until proven guilty. If you want to strip someone's rights, you've got to go through a court of law--that's true even with those rights progressives don't like.

There's another angle to this. We're ignoring that it's already against the law to provide or sell a weapon to a crazy person. Why do so many people, from the shooters in Uvalde and Parkland to many others, get guns when there were many signs that they were a problem?

The answer (in part) goes to how we treat mental health and institutionalization. Walk around any big city in America these days and you have a very good chance of meeting an obviously insane person who is a threat to themselves and others. As a society, we ignore them.

But whether they're an isolated teen in Texas or a screaming insane person outside of the New York subway, we need to ignore less and institutionalize more. Is that a strong response? Sure is, which is why we have due process before we commit anyone to a mental institution.

J.D. Vance @JDVance1 3 черв
Yet we need to be willing to institutionalize people more, both to clean up our streets and also to help some obviously very sick people. That would be far more effective than any "red flag" law. And we'd respect important rights in the process.

There's so much more to do. American schools are clearly seen as soft targets by evil people. Is this sad? Yes. Do I wish it weren't so? Of course. But it's reality. So, we need to bolster school security and make it harder to get into schools in the first place.

I've not even addressed the deeper problems here. We have some very troubled young men who carry out these mass shootings. We have horrible inner-city gun violence that kills far more people than any of the one-off shootings that gather headlines.

We have a deranged media that covers the mass murders that fit their narrative while ignoring those that don't (do a search for "Tulsa" and "Waukesha" to see what I mean). And one of our deepest problems is politicians who use slogans that poll well instead of being honest.

None of these would improve the gun violence problem in this country. All of them satisfy the urge to "do something" without actually doing anything useful, at great cost to the rights of people who follow the law. Let's take just one example, "red flag" laws.

President Biden @POTUS 2 جون

United States government official

We need to

Ban assault weapons -- and if we can't, then we should raise the age to purchase them from 18 to 21.

Ban high-capacity magazines.

Strengthen background checks

Enact safe storage laws and red flag laws.

Repeal gun manufacturers' immunity from liability

Forgiving student debt is a massive windfall to the rich, to the college educated, and most of all to the corrupt university administrators of America. No bailouts for a corrupt system. Republicans must fight this with every ounce of our energy and power.

None of these would improve the gun violence problem in this country. All of them satisfy the urge to "do something" without actually doing anything useful, at great cost to the rights of people who follow the law. Let's take just one example, "red flag" laws

> President Biden @POTUS 2 Jun
> United States government official
> We need to
>
> Ban assault weapons — and if we can't, then we should raise the age to purchase them from 18 to 21.
>
> Ban high-capacity magazines.
>
> Strengthen background checks.
>
> Enact safe storage laws and red flag laws.
>
> Repeal gun manufacturers' immunity from liability.

So all of us agree that we don't want insane people to go and buy a gun and kill people. The question is how to actually accomplish that goal. Importantly, it's already a violation of federal law to sell a gun to a crazy person. So what do red flag laws do?

@JDVance1

They allow the government to eliminate peoples' rights without any due process. Say your neighbor calls the police and says you're a bad guy who's about to commit a crime? Or maybe your ex complains about you after an argument? Now the cops can show up and remove your firearms.

Imagine this approach with any other set of rights. Imagine a neighbor complaining about someone, and then having that person thrown in jail. Or say a guy's ex-wife (think Amber Heard) claims he was abusive, and so we take away his right to free speech.

40 139 1,065

J.D. Vance @JDVance1 3 Jun
Maybe the neighbor has a point. Maybe the ex-wife is right. But we have a simple principle in this country: innocent until proven guilty. If you want to strip someone's rights, you've got to go through a court of law--that's true even with those rights progressives don't like.

26 134 1,127

J.D. Vance @JDVance1 3 Jun
There's another angle to this. We're ignoring that it's already against the law to provide or sell a weapon to a crazy person. Why do so many people, from the shooters in Uvalde and Parkland to many others, get guns when there were many signs that they were a problem?

30 123 994

J.D. Vance @JDVance1 3 Jun
The answer (in part) goes to how we treat mental health and institutionalization. Walk around any big city in America these days and you have a very good chance of meeting an obviously insane person who is a threat to themselves and others. As a society, we ignore them.

29 150 1,100

J.D. Vance @JDVance1 3 Jun
But whether they're an isolated teen in Texas or a screaming insane person outside of the New York subway, we need to ignore less and institutionalize more. Is that a strong response? Sure is, which is why we have due process before we commit anyone to a mental institution.

34 136 1,053

J.D. Vance @JDVance1 3 Jun
Yet we need to be willing to institutionalize people more, both to clean up our streets and also to help some obviously very sick people. That would be far more effective than any "red flag" law. And we'd respect important rights in the process.

187 354 1,692

J.D. Vance @JDVance1 3 Jun
There's so much more to do. American schools are clearly seen as soft targets by evil people. Is this sad? Yes. Do I wish it weren't so? Of course. But it's reality. So, we need to bolster school security and make it harder to get into schools in the first place.

54 145 1,101

J.D. Vance @JDVance1 3 Jun
I've not even addressed the deeper problems here. We have some very troubled young men who carry out these mass shootings. We have horrible inner-city gun violence that kills far more people than any of the one-off shootings that gather headlines.

33 127 1,025

J.D. Vance @JDVance1 3 Jun
We have a deranged media that covers the mass murders that fit their narrative while ignoring those that don't (do a search for "Tulsa" and "Waukesha" to see what I mean). And one of our deepest problems is politicians who use slogans that poll well instead of being honest.

57 393 1,993

J.D. Vance @JDVance1 3 Jun
If you want to keep guns out of the hands of the mentally ill--and you should--there is a solution out there that 1) doesn't harm lawful citizens, 2) would actually address the severe mental health crisis in this country, and 3) might actually work. Joe Biden should start there.

So all of us agree that we don t want insane people to go and buy a gun and kill people. The question is how to actually accomplish that goal Importantly, it's already a violation of federal law to sell a gun to a crazy person. So what do red flag laws do?

72 171 1 249

J.D. Vance @JDVance1 · 3. јун
They allow the government to eliminate peoples' rights without any due process. Say your neighbor calls the police and says you're a bad guy who's about to commit a crime? Or maybe your ex complains about you after an argument? Now the cops can show up and remove your firearms

94 255 1 448

J.D. Vance @JDVance1 · 3. јун
Imagine this approach with any other set of rights. Imagine a neighbor complaining about someone, and then having that person thrown in jail Or say a guy's ex wife (think Amber Herd) claims he was abusive, and so we take away his right to free speech

40 139 1 064

J.D. Vance @JDVance1 · 3. јун
Maybe the neighbor has a point. Maybe the ex-wife is right But we have a simple principle in this country: innocent until proven guilty. If you want to strip someone's rights, you've got to go through a court of law--that's true even with those rights progressives don t l ke

26 133 1 126

J.D. Vance @JDVance1 · 3. јун
There's another angle to this: we're ignoring that it's already against the law to provide or sell a weapon to a crazy person. Why do so many people, from the shooters in Uva de and Parkland to many others, get guns when there were many signs that they were a problem?

30 123 993

J.D. Vance @JDVance1 · 3. јун
The answer (in part) goes to how we treat mental health and institutionalization. Wa k around any b g city in America these days and you have a very good chance of meeting an obviously insane person who is a threat to themselves and others. As a society, we ignore them

29 150 1 099

J.D. Vance @JDVance1 · 3. јун
But whether they re an isolated teen in Texas or a screaming insane person outside of the New York subway, we need to ignore less and institutionalize more Is that a strong response? Sure is, which is why we have due process before we commit anyone to a mental institution

34 136 1 052

J.D. Vance @JDVance1 · 3. јун
Yet we need to be willing to institutionalize people more, both to clean up our streets and also to help some obviously very sick people That would be far more effective than any "red flag" law. And we'd respect important rights in the process

187 354 1 692

J.D. Vance @JDVance1 · 3. јун
There's so much more to do. American schoo s are clearly seen as soft targets by evil people. Is this sad? Yes Do I wish it weren't so? Of course But it's reality. So, we need to bolster school security and make it harder to get into schools in the first p ace

54 145 1 101

J.D. Vance @JDVance1 · 3. јун
I ve not even addressed the deeper problems here. We have some very troubled young men who carry out these mass shootings. We have horrible inner-city gun vio ence that k lls far more people than any of the one-off shootings that gather headlines

33 127 1 025

J.D. Vance
@JDVance1

We have a deranged media that covers the mass murders that fit their narrative while ignoring those that don't (do a search for "Tulsa" and "Waukesha" to see what I mean). And one of our deepest problems is politicians who use slogans that poll well instead of being honest.

If you want to keep guns out of the hands of the menta ly ill--and you should--there is a solut on out there that 1) doesn t harm lawful citizens, 2) would actually address the severe mental health crisis in this country; and 3) might actually work. Joe Biden should start there

We won't save our country unless we rein in the technology oligarchs. You don't have a real country if the channels of communication are controlled in this way.

If your worldview tells you that it's bad for women to become mothers but liberating for them to work 90 hours a week in a cubicle at the New York Times or Goldman Sachs, you've been had.

I'm a black gay guy and I can personally say that Obama did nothing for me, my life only changed a little bit and it was for the worse. Everything is so much better under Trump though. I feel respected - which I never do when democrats are involved.

If your worldview tells you that it's bad for women to become mothers but liberating for them to work 90 hours a week in a cubicle at the New York Times or Goldman Sachs, you've been had.

I'm a black gay guy and I can personally say that Obama did nothing for me, my life only changed a little bit and it was for the worse. Everything is so much better under Trump though. I feel respected - which I never do when democrats are involved.

If your worldview can be defined by that extremely limited picture JD Vance just tried to paint as if those were the only two choices available to women then you need to see an optometrist - and maybe get to know more women and more working mothers

!!NEW: @JDVance1 Slams Tim Ryan's Absence From Joe Biden's Cleveland Visit #OHSen

JD Vance Slams Tim Ryan's Absence From Joe Biden's Cleveland Visit

CINCINNATI — JD Vance, candidate for U.S. Senate in Ohio, issued the following statement regarding Joe Biden's visit to Cleveland today.

"Joe Biden's time in office has been a disaster for working-class Ohioans. In less than two years, Biden has recklessly put us further into debt with trillions of dollars in wasteful spending, killed American energy independence and absolutely decimated our economy. His radical agenda has driven the largest inflation crisis in generations and delivered us rising prices at the grocery store, not to mention $5 a gallon gasoline.

"Notably, Biden did all of this with the unquestioned support of 20 year career politician Tim Ryan. Ryan is so extreme that he votes with Joe Biden and his inflationary leftwing agenda 100% of the time in Congress. Yet, despite his complete and total support of Biden when he's in Washington, DC, Tim Ryan is once again hiding from Biden when he visits Ohio.

"Tim Ryan has consistently refused to stand up to Biden to protect Ohioans from his inflationary and job-killing economic agenda. Ryan has worked in lockstep with Biden to destroy our economy and Ohio's middle class is suffering today because of it. But now, for the second time in two months, Ryan is refusing to be seen in public with his own party's president.

"Every reporter in the state should be asking Tim Ryan why he apparently refuses to be seen in public with a President he campaigned for and votes with 100% of the time."

None of these would improve the gun violence problem in this country. All of them satisfy the urge to "do something" without actually doing anything useful, at great cost to the rights of people who follow the law Let's take just one example, "red flag" laws

> President Biden @POTUS 2. I p
> ⚑ Un ted States government offic al
> We need to
>
> Ban assault weapons — and if we can't, then we should raise the age to purchase them from 18 to 21.
>
> Ban high-capacity magazines.
>
> Strengthen background checks.
>
> Enact safe storage laws and red flag laws.
>
> Repeal gun manufacturers' immunity from liab lity

760 1 560 5 976

J.D. Vance @JDVance1 3 I p
So all of us agree that we don t want insane people to go and buy a gun and kill people. The question is how to actually accomplish that goal Important.y, it's already a v.olation of federal law to sell a gun to a crazy person. So what do red flag laws do?

71 171 1 241

J.D. Vance @JDVance1 3 . p
They allow the government to eliminate peoples' rights without any due process. Say your neighbor calls the police and says you're a bad guy who's about to commit a crime? Or maybe your ex complains about you after an argument? Now the cops can show up and remove your firearms

94 255 1 442

J.D. Vance @JDVance1 3. I p
Imagine this approach with any other set of rights. Imagine a neighbor complaining about someone, and then having that person thrown in jail Or say a guy's ex-wife (think Amber Herd) claims he was abus ve, and so we take away his right to free speech.

40 139 1 058

J.D. Vance @JDVance1 3 . p
Maybe the neighbor has a point. Maybe the ex-wife is right. But we have a simple principle in this country: innocent until proven guilty. If you want to strip someone's rights, you ve got to go through a court of law--that's true even with those rights progressives don't like

26 133 1 122

J.D. Vance @JDVance1 3. I p
There's another angle to this. we're ignoring that it's already against the law to provide or sell a weapon to a crazy person. Why do so many people, from the shooters in Uva de and Park.and to many others, get guns when there were many signs that they were a problem?

30 123 987

J.D. Vance
@JDVance1

The answer (in part) goes to how we treat mental health and institutionalization. Walk around any big city in America these days and you have a very good chance of meeting an obviously insane person who is a threat to themselves and others. As a society, we ignore them.

But whether they re an isolated teen in Texas or a screaming insane person outside of the New York subway, we need to ignore less and institut.onalize more Is that a strong response? Sure is, which is why we have due process before we commit anyone to a mental institution.

34 136 1 047

J.D. Vance @JDVance1 3 I p
Yet we need to be wi.ling to institutionalize people more, both to clean up our streets and also to help some obviously very sick people That wou d be far more effective than any "red flag" law. And we'd respect important rights in the process

187 354 1 687

J.D. Vance @JDVance1 3 I p
There's so much more to do. American schoo s are clearly seen as soft targets by evil people. Is this sad? Yes Do I wish it weren't so? Of course But it's reality. So, we need to bolster school security and make it harder to get into schools in the first p ace

54 145 1 095

J.D. Vance @JDVance1 3 . p
I ve not even addressed the deeper problems here. We have some very troubled young men who carry out these mass shootings. We have horrible inner-city gun vio.ence that k lls far more people than any of the one-off shootings that gather headlines

33 127 1 020

J.D. Vance @JDVance1 3. I p
We have a deranged med a that covers the mass murders that fit their narrative while ignoring those that don t (do a search for "Tulsa" and "Waukesha" to see what I mean). And one of our deepest prob.ems is politicians who use s.ogans that poll wel instead of being honest.

57 393 1 985

J.D. Vance @JDVance1 3 I p
If you want to keep guns out of the hands of the menta.ly ill--and you should--there is a solut.on out there that 1) doesn t harm lawful citizens, 2) wou.d actually address the severe mental health crisis in this country; and 3) might actual y work. Joe Biden should start there

None of these would improve the gun violence problem in this country. All of them satisfy the urge to "do something" without actually doing anything useful, at great cost to the rights of people who follow the law. Let's take just one example, "red flag" laws.

Replying to @JDVance1
So all of us agree that we don't want insane people to go and buy a gun and kill people. The question is how to actually accomplish that goal. Importantly, it's already a violation of federal law to sell a gun to a crazy person. So what do red flag laws do?

71 171 1,242

J.D. Vance ✓ @JDVance1 6月3日
They allow the government to eliminate peoples' rights without any due process. Say your neighbor calls the police and says you're a bad guy who's about to commit a crime? Or maybe your ex complains about you after an argument? Now the cops can show up and remove your firearms.

94 255 1,443

J.D. Vance ✓ @JDVance1 6月3日
Imagine this approach with any other set of rights. Imagine a neighbor complaining about someone, and then having that person thrown in jail. Or say a guy's ex-wife (think Amber Heard) claims he was abusive, and so we take away his right to free speech.

40 139 1,059

J.D. Vance ✓ @JDVance1 6月3日
Maybe the neighbor has a point. Maybe the ex-wife is right. But we have a simple principle in this country: innocent until proven guilty. If you want to strip someone's rights, you've got to go through a court of law--that's true even with those rights progressives don't like.

26 133 1,123

J.D. Vance ✓ @JDVance1 6月3日
There's another angle to this we're ignoring that it's already against the law to provide or sell a weapon to a crazy person. Why do so many people, from the shooters in Uvalde and Parkland to many others, get guns when there were many signs that they were a problem?

30 123 988

J.D. Vance ✓ @JDVance1 6月3日
The answer (in part) goes to how we treat mental health and institutionalization. Walk around any big city in America these days and you have a very good chance of meeting an obviously insane person who is a threat to themselves and others. As a society, we ignore them.

29 150 1,095

J.D. Vance ✓ @JDVance1 6月3日
But whether they're an isolated teen in Texas or a screaming insane person outside of the New York subway, we need to ignore less and institutionalize more. Is that a strong response? Sure is, which is why we have due process before we commit anyone to a mental institution.

34 136 1,048

J.D. Vance ✓ @JDVance1 6月3日
Yet we need to be willing to institutionalize people more, both to clean up our streets and also to help some obviously very sick people. That would be far more effective than any "red flag" law. And we'd respect important rights in the process.

187 354 1,688

J.D. Vance ✓ @JDVance1 6月3日
There's so much more to do. American schools are clearly seen as soft targets by evil people. Is this sad? Yes. Do I wish it weren't so? Of course. But it's reality. So, we need to bolster school security and make it harder to get into schools in the first place.

54 145 1,096

J.D. Vance ✓ @JDVance1 6月3日
I've not even addressed the deeper problems here. We have some very troubled young men who carry out these mass shootings. We have horrible inner-city gun violence that kills far more people than any of the one-off shootings that gather headlines.

33 127 1,021

J.D. Vance ✓ @JDVance1 6月3日
We have a deranged media that covers the mass murders that fit their narrative while ignoring those that don't (do a search for "Tulsa" and "Waukesha" to see what I mean). And one of our deepest problems is politicians who use slogans that poll well instead of being honest.

57 393 1,984

J.D. Vance ✓ @JDVance1 6月3日
If you want to keep guns out of the hands of the mentally ill--and you should--there is a solution out there that 1) doesn't harm lawful citizens, 2) would actually address the severe mental health crisis in this country, and 3) might actually work. Joe Biden should start there.

WASHINGTON FREE BEACON

Biden's Energy Department in April announced the sale of 950,000 Strategic Petroleum Reserve barrels to Unipec, the trading arm of the China Petrochemical Corporation. That company, which is commonly known as Sinopec, is wholly owned by the Chinese government. The Biden administration claimed the move would "address the pain Americans are feeling at the pump" and "help lower energy costs." More than five million barrels of oil released from the U.S. emergency reserves, however, were sent overseas last month, according to a Wednesday Reuters report. At least one shipment of American crude went to China, the report said.

Turner also said the decision highlights the Biden family's "relationship with China." Biden's son, Hunter Biden, is tied to Sinopec. In 2015, a private equity firm he cofounded bought a $1.7 billion stake in Sinopec Marketing. Sinopec went on to enter negotiations to purchase Gazprom in March, one month after the Biden administration sanctioned the Russian gas giant.

Biden campaigned heavily against the oil and gas industry in 2020, promising to "end fossil fuel." He went on to cancel the Keystone XL pipeline and implement a moratorium on new gas leases on federal land during his first month in office. Biden's energy secretary

When you talk to Vietnam veterans (and I know a lot of them) the sense of betrayal is profound They did the most difficult thing imaginable for America, and American leadership abandoned them It's one of the most shameful things our country has done

Those veterans will tell you that military recruitment suffered for years because of how our nation treated the Vietnam generation Who would want to serve after that mistreatment? Some did But many chose to do something else.

There's something similar going on with our police today. Many guys are second or third generation officers and they beg their sons and daughters to avoid police work They're exhausted and overworked They arrest people and see them back on the streets the next day

They are harassed, sometimes at their homes, but constantly online and by political activists and leaders They deserve so much better And more importantly: this is how we descend into barbarism If you can't recruit good cops, how do you protect a civilization?

They are harassed, sometimes at their homes, but constantly online and by political activists and leaders. They deserve so much better. And more importantly: this is how we descend into barbarism. If you can't recruit good cops, how do you protect a civilization?

We are paying with fire right now. The people harassing police officers, accusing them of being the new Jim Crown (hi @TimRyan), and destroying their budgets are turning our country over to violence and chaos. Time for some big changes

For the last few days, I've been traveling around the state speaking to police. Much more to say about that in the coming days, but here's one observation

3 5 29

J.D. Vance @JDVance1 1m
When you talk to Vietnam veterans (and I know a lot of them) the sense of betrayal is profound. They did the most difficult thing imaginable for America, and American leadership abandoned them. It's one of the most shameful things our country has done

1 3 21

@JDVance1

Those veterans will tell you that military recruitment suffered for years because of how our nation treated the Vietnam generation. Who would want to serve after that mistreatment? Some did. But many chose to do something else.

There's something similar going on with our police today. Many guys are second or third generation officers and they beg their sons and daughters to avoid police work. They're exhausted and overworked. They arrest people and see them back on the streets the next day

None of these would improve the gun violence problem in this country. All of them satisfy the urge to "do something" without actually doing anything useful, at great cost to the rights of people who follow the law. Let's take just one example, "red flag" laws

> President Biden @POTUS 2 Ιουν
> Un ted States government offic al
> We need to
>
> Ban assault weapons — and if we can't, then we should raise the age to purchase them from 18 to 21.
>
> Ban high-capacity magazines.
>
> Strengthen background checks.
>
> Enact safe storage laws and red flag laws.
>
> Repeal gun manufacturers' immunity from liab lity

760 1 557 5 973

J.D. Vance @JDVance1 3 Ιουν
So all of us agree that we don t want insane peop.e to go and buy a gun and kill people. The question is how to actually accomplish that goal. Importantly, it's already a violation of federal law to sell a gun to a crazy person. So what do red flag laws do?

71 171 1 238

J.D. Vance @JDVance1 3 Ιουν
They allow the government to eliminate peoples' rights without any due process. Say your neighbor calls the police and says you're a bad guy who's about to commit a crime? Or maybe your ex compla ns about you after an argument? Now the cops can show up and remove your firearms

94 254 1 443

J.D. Vance @JDVance1 3 Ιουν
Imagine this approach with any other set of rights. Imagine a neighbor complaining about someone, and then having that person thrown in jail. Or say a guy's ex-wife (think Amber Herd) claims he was abus ve, and so we take away his right to free speech.

40 139 1 059

J.D. Vance @JDVance1 3 Ιουν
Maybe the neighbor has a point. Maybe the ex-wife is right. But we have a simple principle in this country: innocent until proven guilty. If you want to strip someone's rights, you've got to go through a court of law--that's true even with those rights progressives don t l ke.

26 133 1 121

J.D. Vance @JDVance1 3 Ιουν
There's another angle to this. we're ignoring that it's already against the law to provide or sell a weapon to a crazy person. Why do so many people, from the shooters in Uva de and Park.and to many others, get guns when there were many signs that they were a problem?

30 123 988

J.D. Vance
@JDVance1

The answer (in part) goes to how we treat mental health and institutionalization. Walk around any big city in America these days and you have a very good chance of meeting an obviously insane person who is a threat to themselves and others. As a society, we ignore them.

But whether they re an isolated teen in Texas or a screaming insane person outside of the New York subway, we need to ignore less and institut onalize more. Is that a strong response? Sure is, which is why we have due process before we commit anyone to a mental institution.

34 136 1 048

J.D. Vance @JDVance1 3 Ιουν
Yet we need to be wilhng to institutionalize people more, both to clean up our streets and also to help some obviously very sick people. That wou d be far more effective than any "red flag" law. And we'd respect important rights in the process

187 353 1 688

J.D. Vance @JDVance1 3 Ιουν
There's so much more to do. American schools are clearly seen as soft targets by evil people. Is this sad? Yes. Do I wish it weren't so? Of course. But it's reality. So, we need to bolster school security and make it harder to get into schools in the first p ace

54 145 1 096

J.D. Vance @JDVance1 3 Ιουν
I ve not even addressed the deeper problems here. We have some very troubled young men who carry out these mass shootings. We have horrible inner-city gun vio ence that k lls far more people than any of the one-off shootings that gather headlines.

33 127 1 021

J.D. Vance @JDVance1 3 Ιουν
We have a deranged media that covers the mass murders that fit their narrative while ignoring those that don t (do a search for "Tulsa" and "Waukesha" to see what I mean). And one of our deepest problems is politicians who use slogans that poll well instead of being honest.

56 392 1 980

J.D. Vance @JDVance1 3 Ιουν
If you want to keep guns out of the hands of the menta.ly ill--and you should--there is a solution out there that 1) doesn t harm lawful citizens, 2) wou d actually address the severe mental health crisis in this country, and 3) might actual y work. Joe Biden should start there

So all of us agree that we don t want insane peop e to go and buy a gun and kill people. The question is how to actually accomplish that goal Importantly, it's already a violation of federal law to sell a gun to a crazy person. So what do red flag laws do?

71 171 1 238

J.D. Vance @JDVance1 · 3. jun
They allow the government to eliminate peoples' rights without any due process. Say your neighbor ca ls the police and says you're a bad guy who's about to commit a crime? Or maybe your ex complains about you after an argument? Now the cops can show up and remove your firearms

94 254 1 418

J.D. Vance @JDVance1 · 3 jun
Imagine this approach with any other set of rights. Imag ne a neighbor complaining about someone, and then having that person thrown in jail Or say a guy's ex wife (think Amber Herd) claims he was abusive, and so we take away his right to free speech

40 139 1 056

J.D. Vance @JDVance1 · 3. jun
Maybe the neighbor has a point. Maybe the ex-wife is right But we have a simple principle in this country: innocent until proven gu lty If you want to strip someone's rights, you've got to go through a court of law--that's true even with those rights progressives don t l ke

26 133 1 121

J.D. Vance @JDVance1 · 3 jun
There's another angle to this we're ignoring that it's already against the law to provide or sell a weapon to a crazy person. Why do so many people, from the shooters in Uva de and Parkland to many others, get guns when there were many signs that they were a problem?

30 123 984

J.D. Vance @JDVance1 · 3 jun
The answer (in part) goes to how we treat mental health and institutionalization. Wa k around any b g city in America these days and you have a very good chance of meeting an obviously insane person who is a threat to themselves and others. As a society, we ignore them

29 150 1 092

J.D. Vance @JDVance1 · 3. jun
But whether they re an isolated teen in Texas or a screaming insane person outside of the New York subway, we need to ignore less and institutionalize more Is that a strong response? Sure is, which is why we have due process before we commit anyone to a mental institution

34 136 1 045

J.D. Vance @JDVance1 · 3 jun
Yet we need to be willing to institutionalize people more, both to clean up our streets and also to help some obviously very sick people That would be far more effective than any "red flag" law. And we'd respect important rights in the process

187 353 1 681

J.D. Vance @JDVance1 · 3 jun
There's so much more to do. American schoo s are clearly seen as soft targets by evil people. Is this sad? Yes Do I wish it weren't so? Of course But it's reality. So, we need to bolster school security and make it harder to get into schools in the first p ace

54 145 1 090

J.D. Vance @JDVance1 · 3 jun
I ve not even addressed the deeper problems here. We have some very troubled young men who carry out these mass shootings. We have horrible inner-city gun vio ence that k lls far more people than any of the one-off shootings that gather headlines

33 127 1 016

J.D. Vance
@JDVance1

We have a deranged media that covers the mass murders that fit their narrative while ignoring those that don't (do a search for "Tulsa" and "Waukesha" to see what I mean). And one of our deepest problems is politicians who use slogans that poll well instead of being honest.

If you want to keep guns out of the hands of the mentally ill--and you should--there is a solut on out there that 1) doesn t harm lawful citizens, 2) would actually address the severe mental health crisis in this country; and 3) might actually work. Joe Biden should start there

Forgiving student debt is a massive windfall to the rich, to the college educated, and most of all to the corrupt university administrators of America. No bailouts for a corrupt system. Republicans must fight this with every ounce of our energy and power.

Calling J6 a “terrorist attack” is just insane. And from 60 Minutes, nothing about the FBI entrapment in Michigan or the fact that the bureau colluded with the media to suppress the Hunter Biden laptop story. Time to investigate the corrupt leadership of this organization.

It's so funny to me they can say that with a straight face when the mfers were literally invited in unchallenged and directed where to go, walked through staying inside the ropes, and walked out when they were (finally) asked to leave

CINCINNATI -- JD Vance, candidate for U.S. Senate in Ohio, today issued the following statement on the U.S. Supreme Court overturning Roe v. Wade.

"I am 37 years old, and for my entire life abortion on demand—decreed by an unelected panel of judges—has been forced on the nation. Today is a great day. It vindicates a half century of work, and gives us an opportunity to live up our founding creed—that all of us are truly created equal.

"We now enter a new phase of the pro-life movement. We will continue the fight to ensure that every young mother has the resources they need to bring new life into the world. We will build an economy where it's possible to sustain and support our children. We will expand adoption and promote pregnancy centers, so that every child has the loving home they deserve. Some of our efforts will be federal, and others local, but all will be focused on the simple principle that life is worth protecting—from the moment it begins until its natural end.

"In the Hebrew Bible, God tells Jeremiah: "Before I formed you in the womb I knew you, before you were born I set you apart; I appointed you as a prophet to the nations." This wisdom echoes through the ages in our hearts and in our minds; now it falls to us to ensure it is reflected in the laws of our nation."

I appreciate the man's quick action which interrupted the harm that was intended. At the same time, this act in itself is not masculinity. Plenty of women I know could have and would have acted in a similar fashion. Please stop using your voice and platform to widen the rift.

The FBI is an irreparably corrupt and broken agency that needs to be defunded and eliminated.

Recall: the FBI claimed the Ft. Hood terrorist attack was “workplace violence,” and that a mass assassination attack on GOPers was a “suicide by cop” incident.

Corrupt and unfixable. twitter.com/AP/status/1482…

Calling J6 a “terrorist attack” is just insane. And from 60 Minutes, nothing about the FBI entrapment in Michigan or the fact that the bureau colluded with the media to suppress the Hunter Biden laptop story. Time to investigate the corrupt leadership of this organization.

It's so funny to me they can say that with a straight face when the mfers were literally invited in unchallenged and directed where to go, walked through staying inside the ropes, and walked out when they were (finally) asked to leave

Only women can get pregnant. It's insulting to mothers to suggest otherwise. And it's deranged to call this viewpoint violence.

Forgiving student debt is a massive windfall to the rich, to the college educated, and most of all to the corrupt university administrators of America. No bailouts for a corrupt system. Republicans must fight this with every ounce of our energy and power.

How much of the outstanding debt is accumulated interest?
It is bullshit to make money off the backs of young students. Some people have paid five times the original loan and still owe money
Make all student loans interest free

That's what I say..I'm fine with paying back the original amount I borrowed ..my degree was useless to me, and a very expensive lesson to make sure you are reeeally suited to a career in the field you pick . (and that you don't have the misfortune to graduate in an Obama economy

Short answer to this is BS. You can say whatever you want. But if you spouted BS to me as a reporter, I didn't put it in my paper. That was my decision. @jack can make such decision at scale. As AJ Liebling said decades ago, a free press belongs to he who owns a press.

No amount of spin can change the fact that you're directly responsible for this inflation crisis. You voted for Biden's agenda 100% of the time & the working class is getting crushed because of it.

Instead of asking for a promotion from voters, you should apologize to them.

None of these would improve the gun violence problem in this country. All of them satisfy the urge to "do something" without actually doing anything useful, at great cost to the rights of people who follow the law. Let's take just one example, "red flag" laws

> President Biden @POTUS Jun 2
> United States government official
> We need to
>
> Ban assault weapons — and if we can't, then we should raise the age to purchase them from 18 to 21.
>
> Ban high-capacity magazines.
>
> Strengthen background checks.
>
> Enact safe storage laws and red flag laws.
>
> Repeal gun manufacturers' immunity from liability.

760 1,539 5,919

J.D. Vance @JDVance1 Jun 3
So all of us agree that we don't want insane people to go and buy a gun and kill people. The question is how to actually accomplish that goal. Importantly, it's already a violation of federal law to sell a gun to a crazy person. So what do red flag laws do?

71 168 1,229

J.D. Vance
@JDVance1

They allow the government to eliminate peoples' rights without any due process. Say your neighbor calls the police and says you're a bad guy who's about to commit a crime? Or maybe your ex complains about you after an argument? Now the cops can show up and remove your firearms.

Imagine this approach with any other set of rights. Imagine a neighbor complaining about someone, and then having that person thrown in jail. Or say a guy's ex-wife (think Amber Heard) claims he was abusive, and so we take away his right to free speech.

40 137 1,048

J.D. Vance @JDVance1 Jun 3
Maybe the neighbor has a point. Maybe the ex-wife is right. But we have a simple principle in this country: innocent until proven guilty. If you want to strip someone's rights, you've got to go through a court of law--that's true even with those rights progressives don't like

26 131 1,114

J.D. Vance @JDVance1 Jun 3
There's another angle to this. We're ignoring that it's already against the law to provide or sell a weapon to a crazy person. Why do so many people, from the shooters in Uvalde and Parkland to many others, get guns when there were many signs that they were a problem?

30 120 976

J.D. Vance @JDVance1 Jun 3
The answer (in part) goes to how we treat mental health and institutionalization. Walk around any big city in America these days and you have a very good chance of meeting an obviously insane person who is a threat to themselves and others. As a society, we ignore them.

29 147 1,083

J.D. Vance @JDVance1 Jun 3
But whether they're an isolated teen in Texas or a screaming insane person outside of the New York subway, we need to ignore less and institutionalize more. Is that a strong response? Sure is, which is why we have due process before we commit anyone to a mental institution.

34 133 1,036

J.D. Vance @JDVance1 Jun 3
Yet we need to be willing to institutionalize people more, both to clean up our streets and also to help some obviously very sick people. That would be far more effective than any "red flag" law. And we'd respect important rights in the process

187 349 1,668

J.D. Vance @JDVance1 Jun 3
There's so much more to do. American schools are clearly seen as soft targets by evil people. Is this sad? Yes. Do I wish it weren't so? Of course. But it's reality. So, we need to bolster school security and make it harder to get into schools in the first place

54 142 1,081

J.D. Vance @JDVance1 Jun 3
I've not even addressed the deeper problems here. We have some very troubled young men who carry out these mass shootings. We have horrible inner-city gun violence that kills far more people than any of the one-off shootings that gather headlines

33 124 1,007

J.D. Vance @JDVance1 Jun 3
We have a deranged media that covers the mass murders that fit their narrative while ignoring those that don't (do a search for "Tulsa" and "Waukesha" to see what I mean). And one of our deepest problems is politicians who use slogans that poll well instead of being honest.

56 388 1,964

J.D. Vance @JDVance1 Jun 3
If you want to keep guns out of the hands of the mentally ill--and you should--there is a solution out there that 1) doesn't harm lawful citizens, 2) would actually address the severe mental health crisis in this country, and 3) might actually work. Joe Biden should start there

The fact that things like this are leaking suggests the elites of the left don't care about norms or anything else besides winning. They have declared full scale culture war on multiple fronts. Conservatives should wake up to this new reality

The DOJ didn't indict Eric Holder when he ignored a congressional subpoena, but did to Steve Bannon. His real crime is that he consistently calls out the globalization that has hollowed out American industry and attacked American culture. Nancy Pelosi is playing with fire here.

We have sky high inflation and an economy now officially in recession. But don't worry, Tim Ryan and his Democrat buddies have a solution: tax credits for rich people to buy electric cars made in China. What a joke.

All of this “bring American manufacturing back” from the Democrats is fake unless we stop the green energy fantasy. Solar panels can’t power a modern manufacturing economy. That’s why the Chinese are building coal power plants, something Tim Ryan’s donors won’t let America do.

Had a great time meeting some Vance volunteers and speaking with leaders in the Ohio agriculture community. We have got to get prices under control for these farmers or we'll wake up in a country where our food is grown somewhere else. I won't let that happen when I'm a Senator.

As Rob Portman argues, a "book tax" is a tax on American manufacturing. Tim Ryan and the Democrats offer Ohio manufacturers sky high energy costs and now a big new tax. We must reject this in November.

What's especially misguided about all of this is that manufacturers already pay the highest tax rates of nearly any industry, for the simple reason that they can't pretend their assets exist overseas. Just an astonishingly bad policy at the worst time

OMB on the Inflation Reduction Act: "This legislation would lower health care, prescription drug, and energy costs, invest in energy security, and make our tax code fairer—all while fighting inflation and reducing the deficit." Strongly supports passage.

STATEMENT OF ADMINISTRATION POLICY
H.R. 5376 – Inflation Reduction Act of 2022

The Administration strongly supports passage of the Inflation Reduction Act of 2022. This legislation would lower health care, prescription drug, and energy costs, invest in energy security, and make our tax code fairer—all while fighting inflation and reducing the deficit. This historic legislation would help tackle today's most pressing economic challenges, make our economy stronger for decades to come, and position the United States to be the world's leader in clean energy.

The bill would lower the costs of prescription drugs for millions of Americans and reduce federal spending on prescription drugs by allowing Medicare to negotiate lower prices. And, the bill would lower health care costs for millions of Americans – locking in health care premiums that save 13 million people an average of $800 a year. This bill would make the single largest investment in climate and energy in American history, enabling America to tackle the climate crisis, advancing environmental justice, securing America's position as a world leader in domestic clean energy manufacturing and supply chains, creating and sustaining good-paying union jobs in construction and manufacturing, including in rural communities, and lowering energy costs for Americans. Finally, the bill would require that the largest and most profitable companies pay at least some Federal income tax, with no tax increases for anyone making under $400,000 a year

In all, the bill would reduce the deficit by more than $300 billion, including near-term deficit reduction that, according to a range of economic experts, would also reduce near-term inflation. In addition, lower costs for prescription drugs, health care, and energy would help reduce inflation, while giving American families more breathing room.

The Administration urges Congress to pass the Inflation Reduction Act of 2022. We look forward to working with Congress to deliver this critical victory for American workers and families, as well as the U.S. economy.

Taxes due or paid will not increase for any family making less than $400,000/year. And the extra taxes levied on corporations do not reflect increases in the corporate tax rate, but rather the reclaiming of revenue lost to tax avoidance & provisions benefitting the most affluent.

At the incredible Centrus facility in Piketon. We have an incredible opportunity to make Ohio the center of the next generation of energy. But we need to stop the government and do-nothing politicians like Tim Ryan from standing in the way of cheap, reliable power.

Piketon is a nuclear fuels manufacturer with a sordid past of radiating the entire area with toxic nuclear waste. Portman has been a spearhead of reopening this killing machine, now Vance. What makes Vance thinks NOW we understand how to manage nuclear power and weapons?

All of this “bring American manufacturing back” from the Democrats is fake unless we stop the green energy fantasy. Solar panels can’t power a modern manufacturing economy. That’s why the Chinese are building coal power plants, something Tim Ryan’s donors won’t let America do.

Little to add on the details of the raid on Trump's home: it is disgraceful and unprecedented. The question is what comes next. We either have Republic or we don't. If we do, the people who've politicized the FBI in recent years will face investigation and prosecution.

Really grateful for the engagement and fantastic questions from the farmers of Pickaway County. Tim Ryan and Joe Biden's inflation has been a disaster for the people who grow our food. Time for a new direction.

Tim Ryan's green new deal is little more than a handout to Chinese companies at the expense of Ohio workers. It's dumb, does nothing for the environment, and will make us all poorer. I wish he'd stick to renaming post offices.

I met a lot of great people at the Feast of the Assumption festival, including the owners of Corbo's bakery. When rioters threatened to torch their business, they stood in the doorway, armed and ready to defend their family's work. Tim Ryan just voted to raise their taxes.

I like the one where there's an ultra-rich cousin who shows up but there's also a mystery which could impact the rest of the gang and it was all sorted out at the end of the episode at the big reception/ball/gala/dance/fundraiser.

There goes JD lying like a typical "republican."

These are clearly two separate statements, you've dishonestly conflated into one

Low income people can get there homes weatherized to save money on utilities

People who aren't poor can get solar panels for much cheaper.

"Up to 30% off" is NOT a significant savings, especially for "moderate income" earners. I'm sure those who are seeking by above the poverty level are the only ones receiving even close to 30%. Most everyone else will be lucky to save 5-10%

If you're poor, Tim Ryan will give you 30 percent off the price of solar panels. They won't keep you warm this winter but they are made in China, so there's that.

There goes jD lying like a typical "republican."

These are clearly two separate statements, you've dishonest y conflated into one

Low income peop e can get there homes weatherized to save money on utilities

Peop e who aren't poor can get solar panels for much cheaper.
5 1 40

Gatorsmom @Beezerally · 21 авг
"Up to 30% off" is NOT a s gnificant savings, especially for "moderate income" earners. I'm sure those who are eeeking by above the poverty level are the only ones receiving even close to 30%. Most everyone e se will be lucky to save 5-10%

If you're poor, Tim Ryan will give you 30 percent off the price of solar panels. They won't keep you warm this winter but they are made in China, so there's that.

does any one want to ask why college became unaffordable in the last 20 years and why college degrees don't earn enough to pay it off or are we just going to go on about how oppressed everyone is? Debt slavery for young people is bad

2 · 11

Doug Auslander @dkama · 7h
The primary cause of the excessive rise in the cost of college was the availability of student loans. Many students failed to do the math and graduated with poorly chosen degrees, relative to the cost of their education. It's wrong that the rest of us should pay for their follies

How about the zero taxes you are paying on your earned interest? That's a tax cut that also adds to the debt level by the tune of around $4 TRILLION (with a T) dollars. Also inflationary. You fa led to mention that.

JD Vance Issues Statement On Biden's Address To The Nation

CINCINNATI – JD Vance, candidate for U.S. Senate in Ohio, issued the following statement regarding President Biden's address to the nation:

"Joe Biden has been in a position of American leadership for half a century. During that time, an epidemic of drugs, alcoholism and suicide has driven American life expectancy lower. Our leaders have won zero of our wars. China has grown from an agrarian backwater to an industrial powerhouse, and our first real global competitor in a century. Years of school closures irreparably harmed our kids. Today, Americans are suffering from the worst crime and inflation problems of my lifetime.

"America is not doing well. One might expect Joe Biden to look around, take stock of his own failure, and accept responsibility for it. But no – Joe Biden has instead decided that what truly ails America is not him, his failed leadership, or his failed administration, but what he calls 'MAGA Republicans.'

"During a time when we desperately need to bring people together, not further divide, Biden declares Republicans as enemies of the state and purposely inflames tensions. Never before has an American leader caused so much damage while accepting so little responsibility: Biden's speech was a direct assault on the very people he is supposed to serve.

"I need not wonder if Tim Ryan supports such divisive rhetoric: on CNN, he took to the airwaves to argue that yes, Biden is right that Americans who supported Trump are dangerous to democracy. Tim Ryan should be ashamed of himself, and the people of Ohio should take note of what Tim Ryan says when he's not hiding behind a well-produced TV commercial.

"This moment has exposed Joe Biden, Tim Ryan and the Democrats for who they really are, and has made it crystal clear that we must defeat them in November."

I was honored to speak with Christian leaders from all over Ohio. These pastors are fighting to put children and families at the heart of our public policy. And I'm grateful to have their support.

I'm incredibly honored to have President Trump's support. He was an incredible fighter for hard working Americans in the White House, he will be again, and I'll fight for the America First Agenda in the Senate.

PRESIDENT DONALD J. TRUMP ENDORSES J.D. VANCE FOR THE UNITED STATES SENATE IN OHIO

MAGA patriots from across the nation are set to deliver an election landside for Republicans that will serve as a devastating rebuke of the failures of Joe Biden and the Radical Left Democrats. In the Great State of Ohio, the candidate most qualified and ready to win in November is J.D. Vance. We cannot play games. It is all about winning!

Like some others, J.D. Vance may have said some not so great things about me in the past, but he gets it now, and I have seen said great things about "Trump" and, like me, they love Ohio and love our Country. I've studied this race closely and I think J.D. is the most likely to take out the weak, but dangerous, Democrat opponent dangerous because they will have so much money to spend. However, J.D. will destroy him in the debates and will fight for the MAGA Movement in the Senate. He's strong on the Border, tough on Crime, understands how to use Taxes and Tariffs to hold China accountable, will fight to break up Big Tech, and has been a warrior on the Rigged and Stolen Presidential Election. J.D. is a Marine who served in the Iraq War, a graduate of The Ohio State University, and earned a Law Degree from Yale—a great student. With J.D. Vance, Ohio gets both brains and brawn. Ohio has been good to me, I won it twice, really BIG, and I have likewise been GREAT for Ohio. Let's keep it going!

It is time for the entire MAGA movement, the greatest in the history of our Country, to unite behind J.D.'s campaign because, unlike so many other pretenders and wannabes, he will put America First. In other words, J.D. Vance has my Complete and

What a frightening image of those guys being violent to that cop Extra super vio enty vibes coming from the how y guy. The cop must have been so terrified to see some guy stand there with a blank stare while another guy howled

Massive subsidies to EVs give rich people a lot of money, with the added downside of destroying the midwestern economy.

cnbc.com
How electric vehicle manufacturing could shrink the Midwestern job market
Electric vehicles may require less manufacturing labor than conventional gasoline engine cars, and that could shrink the domestic parts supplier trade

Americans deserve safety. They won't get it if politicians like Tim Ryan keep attacking police officers instead of violent criminals. Our newest ad:

In 24 hours, Tim Ryan has flip flopped on Biden 3 times, lied about saying he wanted to ban gas cars & is now running a TV ad claiming he's not leftwing on culture issues...Except, he told a group of Dem activists in March the exact opposite. Total fraud!

This number represents serious human suffering. The people of Ohio and the country deserve better from their leadership. Time for Tim Ryan to stop raising taxes and sending IRS agents after our people and fix this inflation.

Heather Long @byHeatherLong 14h
JUST IN US inflation was 8.3% in August. That's still way too high, but it is down slightly from 8.5% in July and 9.1% in June

In a surprise, inflation ROSE 0.1% in August. (many expected a drop). Shelter, food and medical care went up, offsetting a 10%+ decline in gas prices

There are dozens of people who protested on J6 who haven't even been charged with a crime yet are being mistreated in DC prisons. A friend suggested the below link if you're able to support them.

Even if the very worst of the Democrats' claims about J6 are true (they're not), it is an insult to all of us that so many people are rotting in prison without being offered a speedy trial. These people are political prisoners, and their captivity is an assault on democracy

If you can't give, maybe consider writing a letter or offering words of encouragement. Many of these prisoners are veterans who served their country honorably and are accused of nothing. They are our people. Help them if you can.

There are dozens of people who protested on J6 who haven't even been charged with a crime yet are being mistreated in DC prisons. A friend suggested the below link if you're able to support them.

Even if the very worst of the Democrats' claims about J6 are true (they're not), it is an insult to all of us that so many peop e are rotting in prison without being offered a speedy trial. These people are political prisoners, and their capt vity is an assault on democracy

If you can't give, maybe cons der writing a letter or offering words of encouragement. Many of these prisoners are veterans who served their country honorably and are accused of nothing. They are our people. Help them if you can.

Thought maybe you were going to go 10 sec w/o saying Tim's Ryan's name, I was wrong U can't stand on your own.

Land is being sold to the highest bidder. Crickets from JD on plan that addresses all issues & actually supports farmers

Again JD proving he doesn't care abt farmers

Thought maybe you were going to go 10 sec w/o saying Tim's Ryan's name, I was wrong U can't stand on your own.

Land is being sold to the highest bidder. Crickets from JD on p an that addresses all issues & actually supports farmers

Again JD proving he doesn't care abt farmers

Tim Ryan caught lying again. Sad!

Kyle Martinsen @KyleMartinsen · Oct 11
Tonight, Ohio Democrat Tim Ryan said, "I've been a natural gas proponent since I've been in Congress."

When he ran for president in 2020, Ryan said he "absolutely" supported BANNING fracking on federal lands

The whole point of the vaccines were they reduce hospitalizations and deaths, which they have. Just like the Flu vaccine

The vaccines have been a great success despite an entire political party opposing them

The military requires a lot of vaccines, since even a small decrease in illness rates/severity can make a change to readiness. Do you think of all the vaccine requirements as dehumanizing or only the covid shot?

Alex Jones is a far more reputable source of information than Rachel Maddow.

One of them is censored by the regime. The other promoted by it.

Biden's open border policies are bringing crime & deadly fentanyl here. Americans are dying because of it.

Finish the wall. End welfare for illegals. Cut all funding for sanctuary cities.

Secure the border. Protect our citizens. Put America First.

How does ending "welfare for illegals" who already are here prevent fentanyl crossing the border? We can increase border security while permitting lawful immigration at the border and upholding our moral and legal obligation to grant asylum to those fleeing violent oppression

Biden's open border policies are bringing crime & deadly fentanyl here. Americans are dying because of it.

Finish the wall. End welfare for illegals. Cut all funding for sanctuary cities.

Secure the border. Protect our citizens. Put America First.

How does ending "welfare for illegals" who already are here prevent fentanyl crossing the border? We can increase border security while permitting lawful immigration at the border and upholding our moral and legal obligation to grant asylum to those fleeing violent oppression

He stands for nothing. Interestingly, he is universally disliked by the right and the left so in that sense he brings us all together!

Cut all funding for sanctuary cities is putting America first? Those cities are no longer in America? Or are we picking and choosing which Americans we support?

Yeah, the border with Canada must be a really big issue there in Ohio.

What, you're not talking about that one?

US Senate candidate, OH

Biden's open border policies are bringing crime & deadly fentanyl here. Americans are dying because of it.

Finish the wall. End welfare for illegals. Cut all funding for sanctuary cities.

Secure the border. Protect our citizens. Put America First.

Send your checks to Steve Bannon. He's almost done with the wall.

How does ending "welfare for illegals" who already are here prevent fentanyl crossing the border? We can increase border security while permitting lawful immigration at the border and upholding our moral and legal obligation to grant asylum to those fleeing violent oppression.
